Natural Hazards:

- ❖ Earthquakes: Vancouver Island lies along the Cascadia subduction zone, and as such we are vulnerable to powerful earthquakes. During an earthquake, the majority of injuries are caused by non-structural items falling and becoming projectiles. Drop under a sturdy piece of furniture; cover your face, head and neck, ensuring you are turned away from any windows. Hold onto a stable piece of furniture and maintain your position until the shaking stops. When it is safe to do so, proceed to our designated muster station located in the upper campground in front of the public washrooms. Remain alert for aftershocks.
- ❖ Tsunamis: An intense local earthquake could trigger a tidal surge, or tsunami. Quickly and calmly make your way up the main road, following the tsunami evacuation route signage, to our designated muster station located in the upper campground in front of the public washrooms.

Report all bear and cougar encounters to campground staff as this information assists in the protection of wildlife and visitors. Do not approach any wild animals; they are dangerous!
